CATFISH

Henry Joost & Ariel Schulman • 2010 • USA • 87 minutes

In late 2007, filmmakers Ariel Schulman and Henry Joost sensed a story unfolding as they began to film the life of Ariel's brother, Nev. They had no idea that their project would lead to the most exhilarating and unsettling months of their lives as they observe Nev building an online friendship with a young woman and her family. Prompted by some unexpected and startling revelations, the group soon embarks on a road trip from New York to Michigan in search of the truth. A nonfiction thriller that is a shocking product of early social media, Catfish is a riveting story of love, deception and grace within a labyrinth of online intrigue.

The Institute of Cyber Security for Society (iCSS) is a University-wide institute that promotes interdisciplinary research and education in cyber security and enhances the cyber security skills of students and the wider community. More about iCSS's activities can be found here: cyber.kent.ac.uk

The Lupino Film Club hosts film screenings and discussions at the University of Kent, and is organised by the Film, Media, and Culture Research Group. Follow us: instagram.com/lupinofilmclub
